

For Immediate Release
August 22, 2012

Press Release
Contact: Stephanie Mandeville
401.272.3367 Office
401.484.8189 Mobile
sdesilva@ridemocrats.org

Pacheco to Gemma: Put the theatrics aside and return to the issues

Providence, RI – “Voter fraud is a serious offense and if individuals have evidence of voter fraud I would encourage them to contact the proper authorities immediately. Today, Mr. Gemma may or may not have produced evidence of voter fraud in Providence. If he has and the evidence has been turned over to the proper authorities, that is a good thing,” said Pacheco. “That being said, Mr. Gemma has offered no credible evidence that Congressman Cicilline was involved in these allegations.

“In short, Mr. Gemma’s approach to this matter has been highly irresponsible. This race is too important. I am calling on Mr. Gemma to return to the issues and put the theatrics aside. In his own words, he has stated that law enforcement authorities have asked him not to discuss this matter. Instead, for his own political gain, Mr. Gemma is attempting to tear down Congressman Cicilline by linking him to these accusations. A link he was unable to make.

“As an attorney, Mr. Gemma should know it is highly irresponsible to cast unsubstantiated accusations without providing supporting documentation.

“The voters of Rhode Island deserve more than campaign antics, they deserve solutions to the real problems they are facing every day.”